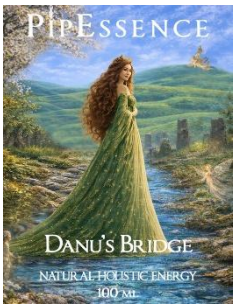
Danu’s Bridge



From this emerald landscape that is filled to the brim with myth, legend and spiritual heritage, it is with great honour that we present Danu, a water deity, and primordial, earthly mother, who holds high magic in every cell of her being. Danu has been whispered through the mists of time and creation itself and is deeply revered by the Celtic people of Europe. It was during a visit to Ireland that she stepped into my awareness, offering these bridging pathways through which the vibrations of her wisdom, inspiration, and ability to flourish may be received, carried by these waters that are deeply interwoven with her loving life stream.

Returning three times to this Holy Spring that flows from the Hill of Tara in Co. Meath, on each occasion I collected her flow and impressions. A trinity of visits has created an individual sacred spiral and pathway in divine co-creation with water remembrance from these magical realms for us to anchor and experience as new linking levels. Danu has been waiting patiently for us to wake up and create action, reminding us that we each hold the power to restore balance to the earth. She revealed both aspects of duality within me and guided me to honour opposing forces as part of restoring a living unity.

She reminds us that we are deeply interwoven with nature, that we are responsible for being aware of the many other species that exist and perhaps we can try seeing ourselves through their eyes. These conductive properties from Danu’s Bridge bathe us in green, blue, white and silver hues that are the colours of the inner crystals we each contain. With her profound feminine wisdom for us she is weaving new threads of light and high magic through these water droplets into our energy system and the depths of our heart.

Danu is presenting a gentle blank canvas for us to create with as Danu has been waiting patiently for our world to be of a certain frequency for her to come through. That time is now. She asks if you are willing to recommit your love and action to this earth and create ways to honour mother nature in all her expressions as there are many bridges to gifts awaiting you if you are.

Let Danu whisper with you her ways from this land and these waters as she holds and loves you into remembrance of all that is pure and true.

The sacred waters of Danu's Bridge weave the following support:

- Assisting high magical remembrance within from the Goddess who helps you to flow and manifest into divine form as we become caretakers of Earth, thriving as one.
- Reclaiming the voices, experiences, power and desires of the sacred feminine and expression away from society's norms and bringing it into the now.
- Connecting you to the labyrinth and sacred geometry (crystalline, pyramid temple with its initiation levels) that resides within the hill, connecting you with the Cosmic Councils of Light.
- receiving consciousness that unlocks the invisible doors into different dimensions and becoming a soul eternally learning about the sacred mysteries that are here.
- Stepping into the vibrations of the magical races of light who came before us, including the Sidhe, the Fae folk and the Tuatha Dé Dannan.
- rewilding with awareness and action the land and waters near you, starting with your garden, and the life that lives within in and on it.
- becoming the neutral, zero point of the in-between of duality by being the ambassador between the two. For example, the tamed and the untamed or the wild and the cultivated.
- bridging connections with the mystical gifts that link with this sacred land including the sovereign Lia Fál (Stone of Fál), The Victorious Spear of Lugh, The Sword of Light, The Abundant Cauldron of the Dagda, and the miraculous Ark of the Covenant.
- weaving a way that is gentle, kind and loving, both within and outside of you, encouraging you to sing this love in return across other bodies of water.
- receiving arc connectors of light that are celebrating your embodiment and jumps in consciousness.

One of Danu's bridges links to a magical, supernatural race the 'Tuatha Dé Danann' (pronounced Too-hah Day Don-un) and this translates to the 'Folk of the Goddess Danu'. They are also known as the 'Shining Ones' with their celestial origin as they arrived from the sky yet later moved underground and into the Earth. They brought with them advanced knowledge and skilled craft. Like the elves they bring skill, elegance and grace in all that they do and share.

General suggestions on 'How to use'.

For an instant connection with Danu's Bridge: Gently mist these water droplets three times above your head, from shoulder to shoulder as far as your arm will reach. Close your eyes and when you feel the droplets kiss your nose, breathe the droplets into your heart and body. Visualise the energy reaching your sacral chakra area (just above your hips).

For a deeper connection with Danu's Bridge:

- Settle into your heart with a few deep, conscious breathes, visualising your favourite flow of water, or with your imagination take yourself to one of the sacred sites along the river Boann in Co. Meath. Once there, feel into how you want the energies of these waters to connect with you. For example, 'I ask these waters to connect me with the primordial wisdom of Danu. May I receive her messages and teaching. Thank you and so it is'. Or 'I ask for permission to enter and ask Danu to escort me through sacred gateways that reside within the mounds of the Hill of Tara in this now, so that I may receive remembrance, and activate my infinite heart. Thank you'. Alternatively, 'I ask for a bridgeway from Danu, that will deepen my dialogue between the sky and water. Help me to deeply soften so that balance and oneness return. Lasty, 'I call upon the flow of Danu, to help me rewild my inner landscape and become an anchor point between duality. Thank you. Thank you. Thank you'.
- Bring the bottle to your heart and say, feel or think clearly how you desire these sacred droplets to connect with you. Then mist the droplets in a spiral shape 🌀 above your head, breathing in as these droplets pass your nose. Visualise the energy reaching your heart, hands and feet.
- If you choose, you could spray the Triskelion symbol in front of you, and walk through this symbol and back again so that the energy reaches around the whole of you.
- Pause to receive the shimmering flow and vibrations from Danu's Bridge. Attune to the subtle energies within you, directing them (suggested) to the Chakras, light body and DNA. Feel the freeing up as this energy flows. Move your body, or tone and sing out aloud, or draw if you feel guided. Also, visualise the inner crystals within your body glowing with these primordial water codes.
- You may wish to share these droplets during a river ceremony or with a grid of crystals placed upon the land. Follow your intuition along your spiritual pathway.
- These waters are complementary to: devotional, energetic daily routines, journeying, anointing, somatic connections, spiritual cleansing, stimulating the imagination, mystical travelling, invoking dreams or for use during goddess celebrations such as Imbolc at the beginning of February.
- Naturally flow with your inner guidance and intuition towards balance, peace, joyful expression, love, and experiences and expressions of ascended states of consciousness.
